Franklin C. Good. Badaou.

New York, June 10.—The Commercial Advertiser publishes an interesting account of Grant and his literary methods. It describes him as completely dominated by his desire to finish his book, that he may leave it as a legacy to his family. He seems to have been a very nervous man, and to have laid down some rules, and then gone to sleep again. He stops in the midst of conversation to record a reminiscence. He was recently asked: "What about the story of the surrender of Gen. Lee's sword?" "I don't know," he replied. "I am not a general," because I didn't think it would be original. Nothing was said or thought of it.

"It is usual to take the sword, isn't it?" "Yes, but I wouldn't do it in that case."

The general said in the course of conversation that he had a good deal in his life, but I knew of no greater man than Gen. Lee.

Gen. Grant, concerning the general's threat that the swelling is not so large that it will require an amputation, it occurred to me feeding it. He can not open his mouth wide for them to look far into it unless with great pain.

It was particularly unfortunate, says the Commercial Advertiser, that Gen. Grant was thought to be dying, should have allowed the impression to exist that he, in the great part, was the author of the book. The family was licensed as the general's biographer, and the manuscript of the book was turned familiar with Gen. Grant. Good writing and asked whence it was. The general himself quickly responded, "It is Gen. Grant's." "Do you think," asked the colonel, "that father would write at any of his dictations?"

"I am sure he would not," replied the friend.

It is a significant fact that nothing more is to be heard from Gen. Badaou. He has left his house and has not been in for some time.

The first volume of the book will appear in December, the second in March. It has already over 300,000 subscribers, which is a sure sign of its popularity. The family is said to be disappointed that they do not sleep all night, but Gen. Grant went very early to bed after a very late night, and slept nearly eight hours before arising Tuesday morning. He suffered no pain in the night.

Illinois Crops.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., June 10.—The Illinois wheat crop report for June was issued by the state department of agriculture Tuesday. The report shows that there is a considerable improvement in the condition of wheat since the 1st of April in any portion of the state. The prospects indicate that there will be less than 10,000,000 bushels of wheat harvested in Illinois this year. The average crop of the United States for a number of years has exceeded 23,000,000 bushels. The present crop is one of the poorest on record. The farmers in central and southern Illinois are still at work in the fields, and the state department of agriculture for paying the expenses of the harvest, and this work will continue until it is too late to plant the land with corn.

The Major's Tame Oyster.

[Tropic Times.]

At a moss-dinner the conversation turned on animal training. "Ah," said Mr.
Blacks, "I remember when I was at Eggleswallah, I tamed an oyster. He used to go me all over the house like a dog." "You t Kiltmagbours used to bring him into a like a child, and he would sit on the table
my side with his shell open and crack filberts—most affectionate little creature."
"Have you got him still, major?" asked doubtful auditor. "No, he has come to untimely end. A friend of mine came in the dining-room in my absence, saw the oyster with his shell open, and swallowed him." "I shall never have another pek," said the major, with a sigh. "No doubt your friend swallowed the oyster," said the president, "but I'm afraid we can't swallow the story."

The poisons are withdrawn from the blood through the pores of the skin, the ulcers, sores or wounds, and not by passing through the system into the stomach and bowels, to be expelled by excretion. The blood is purified by the impurities being withdrawn; the sores or ulcers are cleansed from all parasitic attachments; the healthy matter takes prominence, and nature performs a cure immediately. BRIEFS.

—Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., occupy Odd Fellows' hall this evening.

—Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane, is in the city.

—Miss Annie E. Sylvester, the peerless queen of the bicycle, at the rink, Friday evening, June 12th.

—Mrs. A. P. Barnham and Mrs. Frank Wood went to Madison to-day, for a visit of about three days.

—Badger Council, No. 223, Royal Arcanum, meet in regular semi-monthly meeting this evening.—Leppin's block.

—Mr. S. W. Lightbody, of the firm of Hobbins & Lightbody, Campbell, Minnesota, is in the city, visiting his old home and friends.

—Mr. H. D. McKinney, of this city representing "Wilkes' Spirit of the Times," is at Freeport attending the trotting meeting in that city.

—The Fourth of July committee meet at the council chamber this evening to complete the programme for the celebration on the Fourth. All members of the several committees should attend.

—Mr. Eugene A. Lowell's pleasant residence on the corner of Ravine and High streets, first ward, has been greatly improved by the low tower which has been placed over the front part of the building.

—Dr. G. W. Howe, of Wisner, Nebraska, is in the city, the guest of his niece, Mrs. L. O. Bliss. Dr. Howe has been a resident of Nebraska for the past five years and reports the state in a prosperous condition.

—Mr. Barney Feeley, for some time a member of Washington engine company No. 1, last evening resigned his membership, and to-day left for Chicago, where he will make his home. Mr. Richard Hepp was elected to fill the vacancy thus made.

—The young people of Court Street M. E. church will hold a social in the Sunday school room on next Friday evening. Ice cream and strawberries will be served by the young ladies in charge, and all persons who enjoy a good time should be sure and attend.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Tenney, of Fremont, Nebraska, are in the city visiting Mrs. Tenney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Lawrence, of the first ward. After remaining in the city a few days Mr. and Mrs. Tenney will go to New Hampshire on a visit to Mr. Tenney's old home.

—Mrs. S. C. Little, superintendent of the Wisconsin school for the Blind, visited the closing exercises of the Wisconsin school for the Deaf at Delavan yesterday, and did that school a good service by permitting the orchestra of the School for the Blind to take part in the exercises.

—The lecture on "Intemperance, its Remedies and Amendments to Constitutions," by the Rev. David Tatum, of Cleveland, Ohio, will be of much interest to all hearers. The reverend gentleman is a well known Quaker orator, handles his subject with a great deal of force and eloquence, and as all are invited he will undoubtedly have a good audience.

—The next attraction at the rink will be the champion lady bicyclist, Miss Annie E. Sylvester, who will appear Friday June 12. Miss Sylvester has just returned from a triumphant tour of the Pacific coast, where she carried every one by storm. She is the only lady bicyclist who rides the single wheel. Skating before and after the entertainment will be free of charge.

—Mr. and Mrs. John McLeay and Miss Mary Douglas, of Johnsonville, started yesterday for Scotland. They will spend a day in Washington, and sail from New York on Saturday, and will return home about the first of September. Their many friends will join with the Gazette in wishing them a pleasant voyage over ocean, a good time with friends and a safe return home.

—The excursion to Albany to-morrow, the occasion being a reunion of the 13th Regiment of Wisconsin volunteers, will make a very pleasant trip for any one interested in the proceedings of the veterans. The train starts at 10 a. m. and leaves Albany on the return trip about 5 o'clock, arriving in this city at 7.30. The fare is very low, only $1.35 for the round trip and all persons able to spare the time, should not fail to take advantage of the reduced rates.

—The great electric clock arrived this morning and will be placed in proper working order as soon as possible. The manager, Mr. Cordray has secured the vacant store room, under the Myers house, Milwaukee street. Due announcement of the opening will be given and the citizens of Janesville will have an opportunity of seeing the largest and finest exhibition clock in the world operated entirely by electricity.

—The public well at the corner of Main and Court streets has been completed, the trough placed in position, and now there is plenty of water for man and beast at that point. The Messrs. Pierson Bros., we understand, had the contract for putting down the well, and have finished the job in a first class manner.

—The only thing lacking now for some patent machine man to hurry up and paint the large trough with "cure all" medicines before some home business man gets the start, and occupies the space. May be the city authorities will object to furnishing free advertising space; and paint the tub at the expense of the corporation, which would be the best thing to do.

—An attempt was made last night to burn the old sheds in the rear of the Court Street M. E. church block. Late in the night Officer McGinley happened around in the rear of the church building and discovered the incipient blaze, which he extinguished with very little trouble. The fire was set in one of the narrow alley ways in the rear of the church, and had not burned but a minute or so when it was discovered. Officer McGinley did not see any one prowling around in that vicinity, and is at a loss to account for the fire, except that it was set with the intention of destroying the old sheds along the bank of the river in that locality. It was discovered in time to prevent an alarm and perhaps serious results, and we give Officer McGinley a credit mark.

—The Wisconsin school for the deaf closed its thirty-third annual term at Delavan yesterday, in the presence of a fine audience, the exercises taking place in the chapel connected with the school. The programme was a very interesting one, and showed how wonderfully proficient are the deaf in [such studies as history, mathematics, geography, literature, penmanship, drawing, the industrial arts] and also how thoroughly skillful they become in the sign language. Under the superintendency of Mr. J. W. Swiler, the school is admirably well managed, and never was more satisfactorily conducted than at present. There were three graduates, two young ladies and one young gentleman, all of whom graduated with the highest honors. The orchestra from the school for the blind went to Delavan to take part in the programme by furnishing music that was a credit to the players and a charm to the exercises. The closing term of the School for the blind will take place next Tuesday afternoon at which the public is kindly invited. The programme will consist of literature and music, and or citizens well know that when Mrs. Little has charge of such exercises that there will be nothing lacking to make them worthy the time and the place.

—The Forest Semantics. Mr. Aaron Wallin called at the Gazette office this afternoon and gave us the particulars concerning the rape committed on the young lady residing at his house, on Monday evening. About four o'clock on Monday afternoon Mr. Wallin and his mother went to Edgerton leaving the girl, Miss Adams, alone at the house; the hired man and little boy having gone to the river to fish. The girl states that at about six o'clock, while she was reading a paper she noticed two men approaching the house from the rear; they immediately entered, proceeded to the pantry and helped themselves to what they wanted to eat. They then seized her and each in turn held her while the other satisfied his lust. The officers were informed and although their parties have been arrested the guilty ones appear to have escaped. Miss Adams, until two months ago, was a inmate of the Industrial school at Milwaukee, and was not an adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallin, as reported, and Mr. Wallin is not a married man, but is living with his mother about a mile and a half from the village of Fulton. It is possible that the parties charged with this dastardly crime will yet be arrested, but the chances are that they will now escape, as the country is completely overrun with tramps, and it will be a difficult matter for the young woman to identify the parties.

THE HOME PROSPECT.

How Things are Looking in and Around Janesville.

With a Few Remarks on the Eastern and Western Methods of Growing.

Rock County Tobacco Market.

Farmers who have been afraid of a long dry spell, now go about with gentle smiles on their faces, and tell about how much good the rain has done their plants. The weather being so cold at the first of the season, has delayed some beds, but a few districts have been reported so far where farmers have begun to set, and most of them will have plants large enough to begin on, whenever another rain comes. The loose and cutworm have put in an appearance in several places, the latter especially, giving the farmers a great deal of trouble, and though there is very little tobacco for sale to-day, yet the corn fields are suffering badly, one field of ten acres being entirely destroyed. The recent leaf market is dull, dealers holding their goods for higher prices, and very little of the leaf for sale by farmers.

Wallace Jappan in the Baldwinville Gazette says: "Early crops are very likely to be the best. In fact, my experience of many years leads me to state that the best tobacco is raised in this state and the early crops. They are the best flavored, the spread of the leaves is usually the broadest, while the whole organization of the plant that has a thoroughly matured growth is better by far than late crops which are frequently green in their make-up. Doubtless very many of our growers will say they have had excellent success in putting out plants late, and have produced good crops as a result of late setting; but it is best not to run a risk fraught with so much peril. You will frequently notice the difference between early and late setting by observing those plants which have been set in, say two or three weeks later than the earlier ones. While the early ones are large and possess good bright rich color, the late ones possess such commendatory characteristics, but, quite to the contrary, the leaves are green, and in a general way do not come up to the standard of good tobacco. I have every reason to believe that the best tobacco is raised in this state, and the early crops. As a matter of fact, more pounds on the average can be raised by early than late setting. The early crops have more time to mature, and hence they take up into their circulation more solid substances, such as resin and the like.

This may be the experience of eastern growers, but all the experience of the home producer is exactly the reverse. We find that the late tobacco set in the finest, gummiest, and has the most even texture of the whole crop; and most dealers say that the best leaf is that which was set last. This superiority is due especially to the fact that the tobacco cut during hot weather, while too soon, loses its flavor, and does not cure evenly. That which is cut about the tenth of September, is not exposed to such scorching sun, as it would be, if earlier, and so has an opportunity to cure slower, thus making a better wrapper. His proposition about the early setting having more time to mature, will hardly hold water, when tobacco is ripe that is all it will stand; it won't do to let it stand in the ground to mature, and this system is probably the source of a great deal of the inferior tobacco now produced in the east. The later the better, provided it is early enough to escape frosts, and if this plan is followed, the Wisconsin article will continue to hold a leading position in the markets of the United States.

Golden & Ehrler, and Rockwood Bros., have each bought a few crops during the week, but no shipments have been heard of.

Though the practice of covering seed beds with cloth or canvas has grown quite common in this and other states, the government has granted a patent on canvas covers to Samuel Garrard, of Durham, N. C. The New England Homestead doubts whether "this method" will be widely used, but it has got the first to show himself in the tobacco growing sections of New England or New York, where his "patent" was made before he was born. If he does, the tobacco growers' association will look after him in a way which will not be forgot.

There is Trouble in More.

For those who neglect to rectify irregularities of the stomach, liver and bowels, which they foolishly imagine will "come right of themselves." Of this silly error such persons are usually disabused by the development of some serious chronic malady, and then to what they were pleased to consider a trifling disorder of the above named associate organs. Such a culmination is easily avoided. A course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters invariably has the effect of removing the excessive action of a torpid liver, restoring healthy digestion and assimilation, and rendering the habit of body perfectly regular. The activity of these all important functions being restored, and the entire system toned and regulated by the incomparable corrective and invigorant, no danger to the general health is to be apprehended from causes which, if not eradicated in time, will assuredly undermine it.

To Builders.

Sealed proposals for the construction of a residence for the sexton, on the grounds of the Oak Hill Cemetery association, will be received at the office of L. J. Barrows, secretary, until the 13th inst., according to plans and specifications there on exhibition. The building to be completed on or before the first day of October next. The building committee reserves to itself the right to reject any and all bids.

ANOTHER FOR JANESVILLE.

They Count Another Victory, After a Hard Fought Game.

The game of polo last night, while very interesting on account of the closeness, was more marked for the hard hitting and savage rushes than for bitting. The first and only goal, was made by a stroke from Kent, in about six minutes and thirty seconds from the start; and though the Day Views worked hard during the remaining twenty-five minutes the Riverides were the best men, the ball being kept around the visitors and most of the time until thirty minutes had passed and playing stopped.

The Janesville team has been some what changed since the last game, and the men in the two clubs were as follows:

Day Views—F. J. Nowak, point; Wm. J. Keyes, corner; R. R. Pryor, goal; Wm. G. Achenbach, half back; William Sisson and R. J. McGraw, rashers.

Riverides—Joe Whiting, point; E. W. Ginswald, corner; Jack O'Hara, goal; Mark Hunsan, half back; Arthur Kent and J. P. Smith, rashers.

A. L. Pryor was selected to referee the game, and gave general satisfaction.

In justice to the Day Views it should be said that one of their best players was not able to come, and his place was filled by a somewhat inexperienced man. Their work in goal was exceedingly good, probably the best ever played against by the Riverides men; and had it not been for the skillful playing of the Janesville rashers, the game would probably have been a draw.

The honors in the home team were pretty evenly distributed, each of the boys taking a very fair share, and altogether the game was a very exciting and closely fought one.

GOLDEN WEDDING—1835-1885.

Fifty years ago the 31st of May, on a pleasant Sunday afternoon, two young hearts were united by the marriage yoke, in Wayne county, New York.—Mr. Joseph H. Yough, and Miss Harriet Sprague, then and there promised to be true and faithful to each other until death should separate them; and little did they think at that time how long and how precious was to be their union.

On Sunday afternoon, May 31st, by invitation of "Uncle Joe" and "Aunt Harriet," about one hundred of their neighbors and friends gathered at their home, to rejoice with them that kind, heavenly Father had been with them through these many years which they have been permitted to live together. Some might say the prospect of such a meeting on the Sabbath day, but those who have known Uncle Joe and his religious life, for the past 25 years, know that nothing but what was proper for the Sabbath day would be allowed to take place on his premises. We believe there was never a gathering in this village where a more kind and generous spirit was manifested than at this meeting. About five o'clock, Mr. E. H. Smith called the meeting to order and asked Mr. J. Shinnell to open the meeting with prayer. Mr. Shinnell made a few very appropriate remarks, and then followed in an earnest prayer for the blessing of God on the best and holiest of days.

The company then sang "The Lord's Prayer," and then the friends who were present. Mr. Yough then came forward and with heart overflowing with the joy that overcomes all power to speak, said he wanted to thank the friends for their presence and that he felt that it was right that they should rejoice and thank God for the happy father for spring their lives for so many years. He paid a glowing tribute to her who had these fifty years been his comfort and support. How often had his head been soothed when in pain and sickness, by her kind hand.

After the reading of the table that which would please and satisfy the appetite—could his friends blame him for wanting them to rejoice with him in the long life which he and his wife had been permitted to live together. He said he did not invite this company together to receive their presents, as it was his special request that no presents be brought, but he wished to see their faces and hear their voices, and hear their words of comfort, which were so precious to him. He then read the words which he had written when he and his wife were married. He then presented to her a gold lined silver cake basket. This was truly a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Yough as they had supposed the friends would only bring presents for the children. But the friends did not feel as though they could rather than without leaving some expression of their feelings towards this aged couple, who have these many years been so kind in all times of sickness and sorrow, and who have been so kind in times of trouble. Mr. Yough thanked them for their kind expression of their feelings towards himself and wife. He then talked to the company in words which were more than a sermon, and we believe all felt that it was good to be there. The exercises were closed by singing, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." Uncle Joe then met every one at the gate and gave them a hand shake as they went away.

—Dr. Bell and wife, of Beloit, were in town Monday calling on their friends. The doctor has just returned from a long winter trip to the Pacific coast. He went by the Southern Pacific route. While out there he met many old Rock county people and visited many places of interest. His friend, Mayor Parker, of Beloit, who was with him, remarked while passing through some of the desert country in the southwest, "Is it possible, doctor, that the same God made this country that made ours?" So we judge the trip was not through California or among groves and vineyards all the time. We are glad to see the doctor looking so well.

—The funeral of Mr. Wm. Schenck, of LaPrairie, was held in the Congregational church in this village last Friday. Rev. E. C. McGraw, of LaPrairie, officiated. Mr. Schenck was an old resident of LaPrairie, and the funeral was largely attended by friends from all the neighboring towns.

—The public school closed last Friday with a picnic in Mr. Kent's grove, which was enjoyed very much by the children and older people. We think we can say this has been one of the most successful school years we have had in our village. This is due to the faithful and earnest work of our teachers, Miss Carrie Gray and Miss Lillie Hubbard, whose hearts are in the work, and who realize the responsibilities which rest upon them. With these feelings, a teacher is most sure to make a success of her profession. We hope the board may be able to obtain their services for another year.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sears have returned from their wedding tour in Dakota, having had a pleasant trip, and a nice visit with their friends there. They have no desire to make Dakota their permanent home at present.

—Rev. H. G. Meakins, of Beloit, who occupied the pulpit of the Congregational church in this village last Sabbath, could not have preached two more appropriate sermons at the present time, than was given by him. His old friends and neighbors came out to hear him and give him a cordial welcome, and were rapidly by hearing two as good sermons as we have listened to for a long time. Few men can hold the attention of an audience without having some sleepy hearers, and we can testify that no one had any desire for sleep while listening to him last Sabbath.

—Rev. M. Smith has returned from a three-months' sojourn in southern Illinois. There will be a Sunday school concert in the Congregational church next Sunday evening, it being "children's day."

—The funeral of Mrs. J. Swingle was held Monday afternoon at her home, Rev. A. J. Apple officiating. Mrs. Swingle was one of the few old settlers who are left in our community. She was born in Bradford, Vt., in 1811, married Mr. Justice Swingle April 9, 1844, lived in this village ever since. She was one of a band of Christians who united together and formed a church in Beloit in 1837, and afterwards became a member of the Congregational church of this village, of which she remained a member until her death. Mrs. Swingle was of a very quiet and retiring disposition, her home and family being the great source of her enjoyment. Thus the old settlers are passing away and they are to be remembered by the good they have done by those who are left to take their places.

—The hard boys rejoice at having their teacher look again at the school.
